

Age Appropriate Clothing Protectors

Where we can, it is good to find age appropriate replacements for items like bibs for use at school in particular. The following are some examples of creativity at work!

Unclaimed sweat shirts from the lost and found were cut up, stitched and made into shirt protectors for this high school student. Easy to pull over the head and also to wash.

Bandanas or scarves are also good ways to help keep clothing dry as they can easily be changed throughout the day as needed and sent home to wash. This student is helping to dry his chin.

This student has a cloth napkin or handkerchief draped over the front of her shirt.

Using trendy colours, prints and fabrics can help clothing protectors to look more fashionable.

This student is using a hair dressing cape during mealtime.

Here is another example of a trendy kerchief used to help keep this student's clothing dry.